A HBF representative will contact you with details if you have selected/checked this option.

What can I expect from displaying my book at HBF25?

The HBF is a reader event which means readers, librarians, booksellers, distributors, educators, publishing agents and book production companies attend our show. No direct sales are initiated through the book display but rather the attendees are there to collect information on books and other media they are interested in purchasing. These attendees then place their orders directly with the author. We take photos of all the books on display. If you are interested in receiving a photo of your book, please make that request to theharlembokfair@gmail.com. Due to the number of books on display, we cannot report on how well an individual book was received at the show. Your QR code will provide you with a real-time list (name and email) of attendees who scanned your QR code.

Main Stage Presentation

Read from your work or tell the audience about your book; then direct them to your booth! Limited availability.

Advertising

A one-half page color ad will direct attendees to your book during the event and beyond. Your QR code-embedded ad will link attendees to your website. Great for post-event follow up.
